Scholastic Book Fair

St. Agnes hosted the annual Scholastic Book Fair during the week of October 19-23rd. Families were invited to peruse the fair during after school hours or during evening parent-teacher conference hours. A variety of materials from picture books, cookbooks, novels and diaries, to science materials were offered for sale. We are grateful for the amazing support of the event. The funds raised are used to purchase new books for our own library. Thanks to all who made the event a huge success and to Mrs. Payne for all her extra efforts in organizing and running the fair.

Pre-K Class by Nicole Boness

Our Pre-K students have been busy learning all about the season of fall! Throughout our fall unit, we explored the many changes that take place during autumn, including leaves changing colors, temperatures becoming cooler, and the different types of weather we experience. We learned about pumpkins, their life cycle, and how they grow from tiny seeds into big pumpkins! Our students also discovered why leaves change colors and fall from trees as the seasons change. In the coming week, we will be going on a leaf hunt, then the students will create a collage.

During Hispanic Heritage Month, our Pre-K students had so much fun exploring and learning about the cultures and traditions of Hispanic communities! We discovered different traditional foods, listened to music, and learned about the history and meaning behind various dances and celebrations. We also explored the colorful dresses and traditional clothing worn during special occasions. It was a wonderful opportunity to celebrate different cultures while learning that everyone's traditions make our world a special place.

Fourth Grade Class by Kristie Becker

4th grade is having a fun, faith-filled fall season! We have spent the last month focusing on prayer. The student took the time to visualize and design what they envision when they prayed the Lord's Prayer. They turned out so beautiful, and it was interesting to see what the students see as they pray! This coincided with what we have been learning in our religion chapter. We also created drawings of St Francis and have been adding to our prayer wall. The students have also been working on the virtues of the week.

We recently enjoyed a field trip to Legacy of the Plains. It was interesting to learn about different technology of the past. The students were excited when the material presented matched something from our textbook! Their favorite station was learning to irrigate with siphoned tubes. (They were pretty good!)

We also did our infamous book tasting in reading, where students got to "taste" new genres of books. They then chose their favorite novels and now have a new book to read in their newly formed book clubs. They will be reading Refugee, Sisters, The Eruption of Mt. St. Helens, and the Chocolate Touch. We also started our language wall, which is an interactive grammar wall. The students build on this all year as they add to their grammar skills. This is always something the students look forward to doing!

We finished our science unit on life science and had fun creating a review on our giant post it notes, which the students love. We also finished our first social studies chapter as well. The students created Nebraska maps with everything we learned about Nebraska's geography and how the land is used. We are excited to start the second quarter strong!
