Premiere Event

The Premiere Event, And There Off, was held on Friday, November 13th at the Gering Civic Center. The crowd enjoyed donning their Kentucky Derby attire and taking part in a variety of events centered on the race theme. Amazing silent and live auction items kept the patrons on their toes while bidding and resulted in an outstanding evening of fundraising. Scott Dishong, CEO of Make a Wish – Colorado, was recognized as the outstanding alumni and Travis & Charissa Gould received the Friend of St. Agnes Award. Thanks to the many people who made the evening a HUGE success. We are so very blessed!

Celebrating Kindness

World Kindness Day was the perfect setting for St. Agnes 3rd grader's movie and pizza party earned by meeting their class behavior goals. Making good choices, working hard and responsibly and treating each other with kindness on a daily basis were all requirements necessary to attain enough marbles to fill their jar. Third graders spent the day spreading kindness by handing out kindness coins. Keep up the great work, 3rd grade!

Honoring Veterans

Wednesday, November 11th marked Veteran's Day.St. Agnes kindergarten, 1st and 2nd grade students celebrated with a visit from Aaron Dockery, parent of Boone and Warren, who serves as a recruiter for the National Guard. He spoke about his service and brought a vehicle from the National Guard for the students to explore. Our school also celebrated our new maintenance man, Gerry Golson, who is a veteran of the US Army. We are grateful to all who have served our country.

Student Led Mass

Saturday, November 14th marked the 2nd student-led Mass for the year. 35 PK-5th grade students led all ministries including, lectors, cantors, greeters, ushers, altar servers and rosary leader. They take great pride in this responsibility and look forward to being able to serve in this capacity each quarter. A cookie reception followed Mass in the Gathering Space.

Pre-K Class
by Nicole Boness

Our Pre-K class had a blast traveling back in time to the 1950s! We celebrated 50's Day by dressing up in our favorite 1950s outfits, learning fun dances, and making our very own 50s day hats. We practiced counting all the way to 50 and explored what life was like during the 1950s. We learned that televisions were black and white, cars looked very different from the ones we see today, and telephones had rotary dials instead of touchscreens! We also discovered that children didn't have tablets or laptops like we do today. It was so much fun comparing life then and now while learning about the history of the 1950s.

This month, our Pre-K friends have been learning all about Thanksgiving and the importance of being thankful! We spent time talking about the many blessings in our lives and sharing the special people and things we are grateful for. Our little learners had so much fun creating their very own Disguise a Turkey project with their families and making beautiful cornucopias to celebrate the season of giving thanks. We also enjoyed reading Thanksgiving stories, learning about holiday traditions, and discussing what makes this time of year so special. To celebrate, we gathered together for a wonderful Thanksgiving feast right in our classroom! Our friends shared what they were thankful for while enjoying special moments with their classmates.

Fourth Grade Class
by Kristie Becker

One of my favorite times of the school year is coming up -the holiday season! In starting with Thanksgiving, the students having been working on activities that focus on being grateful. Students have filled out sheets that listed the ABCs of Thankfulness. They also filled out little cards when they felt thankful for something in their daily lives. Grattitude is a good virtue for them to practice! We also created Thanksgiving artwork for hallway and classroom.

In our daily religion, we are focusing on Jesus being our role model. We took the time for each student to write a note to another classmate expressing why they think they are a good role model. It was fun to see their reactions to how their classmates view them! On the Feast of All Saints Day, students created writing pieces on why they want to be saints and what virtues they currently possess that would make them good saints in the eyes of God.
For math, students are working hard on multi-step math problems. As we enter our Earth Science unit, the students are creating a fun artistic journal on the different regions of the United States. In social studies, we are learning about the early tribes in Nebraska. Students enjoyed creating 3D teepees for the hallway.

My 5th grade readers are creating their final projects for their novel, Holes. They are making character bios of the main characters. These projects are quite large and something they were really looking forward to doing! My fourth-grade readers have started into their book clubs and are enjoying their new novels! Both classes are working hard to learn new grammar concepts, as well. The fourth graders are also very proud to be new altar servers in the church! I'm proud of all the hard work both classes put in and all the virtues they are working hard to follow.
